PRICE FIVE CENTS

PRESIDENT FACES TARIFF REVISION

WILSON IS GIVING THIS SUBJECT THE CLOSEST STUDY

WOOL PLACED ON FREE LIST

ATTITUDE OF SENATE ON FREE WOOL NOT KNOWN—PRESIDENT FAVORS FREE SUGAR

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—President Wilson is facing the most serious phases of tariff revision tonight. With the work of the House committee on Ways and Means before him and an extra session of Congress only a few days off, the president proceeded deep enough in the study of the tariff bill to realize that before the Democratic caucus could meet, there are many points upon which he himself must take a definite stand.

It is admitted at the White House that he would do so in a day or two. It is declared also, that the president has not finally made up his mind as to whether sugar will be put on the free list or be given a reasonable amount of protection, and whether the income tax will be a flat or a graduated rate.

Method of Revision
It has not been determined whether the revision schedule will be put in a single bill or be revised, schedule by schedule, but President Wilson leans strongly to a single bill.

He believes sugar should go on the free list, but is open to conviction on that point.

In Accord
The Ways and Means committee after an all day session, perfecting the bill, declared there was no difference between its opinion as to duty on farm products, and the president's. This means a cut of 50 per cent.

The removal of the tariff from raw wool was agreed upon between President Wilson and members of the House Ways and Means committee tonight. The plan provides that wool be put on the free list, and has unanimous approval of Democratic members of the committee. The Democrats have fought for free wool for two years.

The concession to President Wilson and the free wool advocates, takes the place of the 15 per cent duty which the committee had agreed upon.

The reception which may be given the free wool schedule in the Senate is still a matter of conjecture. President Wilson is to meet Senator Simmons, chairman of the Senate finance committee, and Senators Smith and Stone tomorrow night, and the attitude of the Senate will then be made clear.

Offered Post

John R. Mott, the Young Men's Christian Association leader, whom President Woodrow Wilson has asked to accept the post of minister to China, is one of the most valiant fighters of this world-wide movement. Once he refused, but the president repeated his request. Later the president repeated his offer, and Mr. Mott, who is in the interior of Korea, has not been heard from.

The particular reason why President Wilson desired Mott as the next minister to China lies right on the surface. No other man has had quite his relation to the student body of China, which is the ruling caste under the republic. Mott paid his first visit to China in 1895. He was then engaged in whipping the foreign missions movement into form. Mott doesn't believe the missionaries should be an army of occupation. Rather they should be swift conquerors. The captured land should be garrisoned by its own people. He always develops native leadership. It is the Mott idea that is very largely responsible for the change in the foreign missions movement in the past two decades.

He studied the student conditions at that time. In his subsequent visits—in 1901 and 1907, as well as in the present year—he has continued that study. He became intimately acquainted with the moderns of China, those student leaders who overturned the Manchu monarchy by the mere power of thought.

The attendance included delegates from a score of states and among them were many suffrage leaders of national and international reputation. The greater part of the day was devoted to the exchange of views as to the best methods of promoting the cause and winning the ballot for women. Practical workers explained the several methods of getting the question before the people for a vote and the steps necessary in submitting the matter to the initiative and referendum or securing favorable action by a legislature or constitutional convention. At the afternoon session delegates from Kansas and Arizona told of the methods by which victory had been won for the equal suffrage cause in those states.

The sessions of the conference are to continue over tomorrow and Friday. Two attractive evening programs have been arranged, the speakers to include such well known leaders as Mrs. Doshia Breckinridge of Kentucky, Miss Mary Johnston of Virginia.

REBUILT OLIMPIC SALES FOR NEW YORK

SOUTHAMPTON, April 2.—The mammoth steamship Olympic, refitted and reconstructed at a cost of more than $1,000,000 with a view to making her the safest vessel afloat, sailed today for New York. The great steamship, which still retains the honor of being the largest vessel in the world, was greeted with a roar of salutes from the whistles of all the craft in the harbor as she left her dock and moved majestically out into the channel.

Experts pronounce the reconstruction work on the Olympic to be one of the wonders of modern engineering. The original double bottom of the vessel has been extended well above the water line, so that now the big ship has what may be called two complete hulls, one within the other. As additional safeguards she has been fitted with a number of extra bulkheads, some of which extend to the docks forty feet above the water line.

The funeral procession to the depot was impressive in simplicity. The hearse was followed by carriages in which rode Herbert and Mrs. Satterthwaite, the American ambassador. They were followed by the staff of the embassy, the attending physicians, and a few friends.

The municipal guards acted as an escort. The people in the streets waved their hats as the cortege passed.

GREAT HEROISM BY MONTENEGRINS

CAPTURE GREAT TARABOSCH FORT AFTER AWFUL SACRIFICE

EVERY MAN LOST HIS LIFE

HEROIC BOMB THROWERS EMULATE EXAMPLE OF ANCIENT GREEKS IN FIERCEST CONFLICT OF THE WAR

By Associated Press

CETTINJE, April 2.—The great Tarabosch fort which for months has held the Allies off from Scutari, is practically in the hands of the Montenegrins, thanks to the sacrifice of 200 bomb throwers, every one of whom lost his life in this last desperate effort to clear the way to the town, for the possession of which Montenegro was ready to give up everything.

The bomb throwers were all picked men, chosen from several battalions. Clambering up the mountains under a murderous fire from the Turkish guns, they cut the wire entanglements, and threw bombs among the Turks, thus opening the way for the storming party.

Not one bomb thrower returned, but they accomplished their object, and the Montenegrin infantry, following close, charged the trenches.

The Turks held their grounds and a desperate, bloody hand to hand fight ensued, lasting an hour and ending in a victory for the Montenegrins, who lost 200 men.

Tier after tier of trenches had to be taken, but the troops of the Southern Division under General Martinovich overcame the obstacles.

TERRILL REPLIES TO GOVERNOR COLQUHITT

AUSTIN, Texas, April 2.—Chester Terrill, speaker of the house, in a speech delivered today at noon, made a vigorous reply to Gov. Colquhitt's recent "Good Friday" message to the legislature. Terrill's appearance at the stand for the speech was greeted with long applause. The speaker defended the house record and treated the Good Friday message rather severely throughout. In addition he cited excerpts from the governor's record, both as a legislator and executive to point out what he called an inconsistency with the utterances the governor made on the policy of the house and senate.

The Katy consolidation, vetoed by the governor and passed over his veto, came in for its share of comment and Terrill called attention to Colquhitt's record in furthering a senatorial record in Texas as a consolidation.

He closed with reading a list of important bills which have been passed and was applauded at length.
